matic vocalist and reached its temination. The faces may be deemed interesting that the opera in which a he made his first appearance after his return from Italy, was a work by Mears. Mazzinghi and Reev, entitled the "Chains of the Heart." That for a seles of years, (terminating in 1816.) he sang at the King's absence, in concert with Merdames Billington, Freder, and Grassical; and that when Weber composed his opera. "Opera." for the English stage, he was the original Sir Hums.

While his success as a vocalist was without precedent, Mr. Braham was also renowned as a compose. Not only did he write several of the most popular songs, but be composed a to erably long list or entire operas as they were called in their time, though, according to preent notions, they were merely dramas, interspersed with occasional songs. Of these the most celebrated were perhaps the "Cabinet" and the "Devil's Bridge"—relice of which will be found in every aid fashion-d nock. The only vocation which will be found in every aid fashion-d nock. The only vocation which Mr. Braham tred without success was that of manager. The St. James' theatre, which he built as an Opera house and which was first opened in 5836, never satisfactorily answered the purpose for which it was originally intended.

In private hife Mr. Braham was gioerally respected. He moved in good society, and among his sequinistance his fame as a man of extensive informs in and as a humorous retailer of anecdote was scarcesy infector to his reputation as a vocalist among the general public.

Consols for account, 11th March, 90% to 90%. THE NEW GOVERNMENT LOAN OF ENGLAND.

[From the London Standard, February 19.]

Yesterday at the o'clock a vry large number o' influential gentlemen connected with the movetary will attended the Treasury for the purpose of hearing from the Cannecllor of the Exchequer the particulars of the groposed new loan. The right honorable gentleman was accompanied by Lord Palmerston, and Mr. J. Wilson, the Secretary to the Treasury. Among those present were Baron L. de Bothschild, Sir J. L. Goldsmin, and Messrs.

Cazenove, R. Thornton, Mullens, &c.

The interview commenced with the reading by the Chancellor of the Exchequer of the particulars of the ioan, as also the particulars of the amount of Exchequer bills to be funded, for both of which important decuments see Standard of yes erday.

Baron Rothschild then asked whether the biddings for the two operations were to be made on the same day?

The Chancelor of the Exchequer repited in the affirmative.

Sir J. I. Goldsmid having inquired whether any discount would be allowed, the reply was in the negative.

Baren Roshschild—Do you intend to make another The Chancellor of the Exchequer—No, not while this Barch Robbschild—Be you intend to make another loan?

The Chancellor of the Exchequer—No, not while this is in course of payment.

Agentleman having inquired whether there was any objection to state the amount of Exchequer bills affont. The Chanceller of the Exchequer replie) that the oddigations of the government amounted to £22,000,000, but bills to that extent had not yet been issued.

Baron Robbschild said he thought there ought to be two distinct-biddings for the lean and Exch-quer bills, as a person willing to contract for the Lan might not be disposed to undertake the Exchequer tills. He would like to know whether the government would be disposed to give better terms if the whole £8,000,000 were contracted for in money.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer replied that he could say nothing on that point until he had ascertained whether or not a contractor would ace pt the option which was now offered.

Baron Robbschild sid not think that the contractor was placed in a better position than the general public. The Chancellor of the Exchequer and the contractor was placed in a better position than the general public, because he had an option, which the general public had not, namely, the option of taking the contract for Exchequer bills at the highest bidding for the loan.

A gentleman wished to know whether the government contemplated making another loan?

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said he could only repeat the answer he had already given. The government had no triention of making any fresh loan, either with regard to the funded or the unfunded debt, daring the currency of the payments of the loan which they now asked for.

The same gentleman having observed that the loan under consideral in would not extend beyond what he had done.

Another gentleman inquired whether the right honorable gentleman and he could not state anything beyond what he had done.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

TUESDAY, March 4-6 P. M. The tendency of prices at the first board was upward. There was an active business in some of the ading railroad securities at better prices, while others show a slight decline. Virginia 6's advanced | per cent; Illinois Central bonds, 2; New York Central 6's, §; Nicaragua Transit, §; Chicago and Rock Island, 4; Reading Railroad, 4. New York Central Railroad fell off 4 per cent; Erie, 4; Cleve-land and Toledo, 4; Michigan Southern, 4. Nicara-gua Transit is moving up as we predicted. As the market advances the seller on four months time does not continue his sales. If Nicaragua was a good sale at 20 per cent, seller four months, it must be a good one at 22 per cent, on the same time. It is the impression inside of the clique that by the time four months contracts expire Nicaragua Transit stock will be somewhere up among the thirties. The season is opening for emigration, and the tide of travel to and from California is likely to run full and strong during the spring. Travel to and from Nicaragua will be an important source of revenue to this company and the through travel to and from San Fran cisco will be considerably larger than usual by this route, on account of the desire to see the country that is now attracting so much attention among the political and commercial world. All this will add largely to the revenue of the Transit Company, and increase its property very materially. The consolidation of the Walker government in Nicaragua must improve the Transit Company's real estate and other possessions in that country, and add immensely to its facilities for developing its line of internal communication. The firmness and steadiness with which Erie is sustained is most extraordinary. The daily transactions are large, amounting in some instances to several thousand shares. Most of the operations appear to be on time, buyer's and seller's option, and made prin cipally on speculation for a rise or fall, notwith, standing which we find very little variation in prices, and no indications of importance pointing either to an advance or a decline. As the season advances and speculation becomes more active there may be an upward movement. In view of the great improvement in the company's financial posttion, its good management, &c., present prices can well be considered the minimum of its actual value. Rending Railroad stock should stand in Wall street above par to-day. Its dividends and its prospects entitle it to that position, and it must ere long reach that point. Without an increase of one dollar in its gross and net receipts, the stock is a sare twelve per cent investment, after providing for every conceivable contingency. Such a stock should command a premium in the market. It is appreciated by British capitalists, who are gradually absorbing the entire capital. All the cash dividend of January last, paid to foreign holders, was re-invested in the stock, and we have no doubt such will be the future policy of the same parties. Galena and Chicago has not varied much from 113 per cent for several weeks. A few shares are sold daily within a fraction of that price; but it would be impossible to get any tity without putting up the market several per cens. Illinois Central bonds were in active demand to-day at a handsome advance. They opened at 88 and closed firm at 88; per cent, cash. The land sales of this company will, without doubt, show a result this year more extraordinary than the most sanguine ever conceived. The returns for February will soon be at hand.

At the second board the market was slightly depressed and with one or two exceptions, lower prices were realized. Cumberland Coal fell off \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cable gentleman inquired whether the right honorable gentleman inquired whether the prices were realized. Cumberland Coal fell off \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent; Reading Railroad, \(\frac{1}{2} \); Milchigan Central, \(\frac{1}{2} \); Clevelard and Toledo, \(\frac{1}{2} \). Milchigan Central, \(\frac{1}{2} \); and the remaining the probable in the series of the last instalments on the series of the 241 of April. Baron Rotherly called the two within the specified period. He would be giad to know whether the contractors some induspendent in the series of the Exchequer who have no intendent to the party who has lately been selling on our months; has been wise enough to buy in largely at prices that will leave him minus several thousand dellars. The harvest of the Transit Company is about commencing. The steamer from this port on Saturday, the 8th instant, will go out within the amount of the first deposit.

Baron Rotherliad—The helders of the series were made at an advance of bear within the series of the Exchequer were not early who has lately been selling on our mo pressed and with one or two exceptions, lower prices were realized. Cumberland Coal fell off a per that he was again going to take charge of the agency the stock run from 131 a 14 per cent up to 25 per cent, and when he again assumed the Presidency, the oldest holders of the stock were not disposed to sell even at that price. It is now tending upward, and we should not be surprised to see it touch the point named above—32 per cent.

DERPETUAL MOTION.—THE GENATER? DIS JOVERY ever yet made is now on exhibition at 565 Broadway, up stairs. This machine was manufactured in New Haven, and is the invention of Mr. k. P. Willis. by whom it was successfully exhibited in that place; and, agreeably to public oninton and the approperion it met with, it is beyond a doubt the greate tour feelity and the most anccessful attempt at a self sciled machine ever made in this or any other country. Why it is not a bona 5de perpetual motion it is left for the ourious on that outplet to determine. Call and see it, and our word for it you will not regret the trentile. Hours of exhibition from 9 to 1, 2 to 6 and 7 to 10. Admission 25c.
